

EMPOW[HER]

Collective for Women & Girls in STEM

The Discovery's EMPOW[HER] Collective for Women & Girls in STEM expands the museum's programming for girls with the goal of keeping them engaged with STEM throughout their education.

Women remain underrepresented in STEM career fields – this initiative is a catalyst to change that. The Collective is comprised of women working in STEM as well as undergraduate and graduate students studying these fields. Through mentorship, networking, and hands-on programming developed and implemented by members of the Collective, women and girls of all ages will collaborate to build a community, giving rise to the next generation of female STEM professionals.
